

205 S. Cook Street - Contributing

At this location is a two-story, frame, cross-gable front Colonial Revival-influenced building constructed in 1899. The building has a ca. 1990 foundation, a gable roof of asphalt shingles, and an exterior of weatherboard siding. The main façade was altered ca. 1990 with the removal of the original porch and the addition of a new frame staircase. The main entrance has a replacement door and windows are one-over-one rectangular wood sash added ca. 1990. On the main façade is an original bay window and windows have original frame cornices. In the gable field on the main façade is a Palladian window. At the eaves are gable returns.
